

Deplores Budget Limits

Assistant Secretary Of Navy Says Its Research Program Has Been Held Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Garrison Norton, assistant secretary, testified today that Navy research has suffered from budget limits on defense spending — the dollar strait jacket in which we must operate.

Norton told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee "I scream like a wounded wolf" when funds are taken from research to get under a budget ceiling.

Norton made a plea to the subcommittee to get on with what he called the main business and not to divert too much energy to Buck Rogers schemes.

"Our No. 1 business," he declared, "is to get a missile with a warhead which can land on target. Nothing should dilute that. We are very close to getting it."

There have been suggestions that the United States make the conquest of space one of its top-priority projects.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) read a statement in which he said he was not advocating the discharge of anyone in the Pentagon but believed the system there was primarily responsible for costing billions of dollars a year.

There have been reports that subcommittee Democrats favor replacement of William M. Holladay, Defense Department missiles director. Chairman Johnson (D-Tex.) said the subcommittee hadn't reached any conclusions on who ought to be fired.

Norton testified the Navy wanted to conduct the recent Vanguard earth satellite test in secret but was overruled by Murray Snyder, former assistant White House press secretary, now assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

Norton said Snyder gave orders for full publicity on the Vanguard test over Navy objections.

The Navy official took the stand after Lt. Gen. Verne J. McCaul, acting commander of the Marine Corps, testified that Soviet advances in weapons and space technology increase the threat of limited war.

McCaul also cautioned the subcommittee not to forget about improving other weapons and not to "think in terms of missiles alone."

Norton, who has jurisdiction over Navy research, told the senators he was "not at all surprised" at the failure of the Vanguard when an attempted firing was made at Cape Canaveral, Fla., ten days ago.

"I thought there was a great likelihood it would fail," he said. "We had had three previous successes."

He did not at once explain what he meant by the successes, but apparently this referred to previous tests of the Vanguard rocket.

Norton said he argued both to Snyder and to Secretary of the Navy Gates that all missile work, including specifically the earth satellite job, "should be done in private."

"I said it was against the safety of the nation for it to be done in public," he testified.

Entries Add Up In Big Contest For Best Lights

The town seems to be getting into the spirit of the Christmas season and lights and decorations are going up everywhere. Too many were working over the weekend getting the decorations up.

Herfurth, 1912 East Ninth; Ernest Sitton, 1100 South Murray; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Long, 2001 East Twelfth; Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Brown, 609 West Third; Miss Margaret H. SEDALIANS SHOP AT CHRISTMAS—These were typical scenes at the corner of Third and Ohio Saturday as crowds jammed the downtown stores in the pre-Christmas shopping rush. The string of cars moving north on Ohio reached all the way back to Broadway, and parking spaces were at a premium. It didn't stop the shoppers, however, and the downtown businesses received heavy traffic. The stores will remain open every night this week until 8:30 for the convenience of late shoppers, and a big turnout is expected. (By the way, if you went shopping Saturday, maybe you're in these pictures. Better look.)

Springfield Men Killed Inside Store

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A 75-year-old Springfield grocer and a customer were beaten and stabbed fatally in the store yesterday.

Grocer Vic Spinetto, who had been attacked three times in the past five years, died early today at a Springfield hospital. The customer, 67-year-old Virgil Ussery, was dead when a customer found the men lying on the floor of Spinetto's store. Ussery managed a liquor store next door to Spinetto's business.

Police said the heads of both men had been crushed, apparently by blows from a blunt instrument. Spinetto was stabbed seven times, and Ussery's body bore 21 stab wounds.

Detective Sgt. Floyd Robards said police have not determined a motive for the crime. He ruled out robbery. Spinetto had $173 on his person, said Robards, and apparently nothing was taken from the store.

Only last week Spinetto was released from a hospital for treatment of injuries suffered when he was beaten at his store in November. He told police he didn't know his assailant. Robards declined to speculate on whether the beatings might be connected.

Five years ago, a bandit robbed Spinetto's store, and slugged the owner.

The Spinetto grocery is in the heart of Springfield's business district, and was the only grocery in the area open on Sunday. Police believe the two men were attacked about noon. They were found at 12:20 p.m.

Business As Usual

Marshall Newspaper Is Aided In Sedalia and Sweet Springs

Like the old tradition in the entertainment world, "The show must go on," so Rozier N. Hains, editor, and Randall K. Hains, manager of the Marshall Democrat-News, decided the presses must roll. Destruction of their newspaper plant in a fire Thursday morning, Dec. 12, did not deter them in getting out abbreviated editions.

First the Slater Rustler came to their rescue for issuance of two-page papers. And starting today they are having type for their paper set at the Sweet Springs Herald office, owned by Frank W. Farmer, and the locked page forms are being brought to The Sedalia Democrat-Capital office for the press work.

Saturday the publishers announced:

It is expected that by Monday the office of the Democrat-News will be set up in the building on North Odell formerly occupied by Earl Kays, motor car dealer. Overhead gas heaters were installed in the building and today some printing equipment is being put in place.

Since the fire Thursday the office of the Democrat-News has been in the room on North Lafayette occupied by the Howard Jones Insurance agency. Mr. Jones most generously permitted this newspaper business and news office to function in their office.

On Sunday composers and pressmen of The Sedalia Democrat-Capital donated their services to issue the Missouri Valley Delta, student publication of Missouri Valley College for which the Democrat-News had a contract for its regular publication.

Dutch Nationals Begin Leaving Aboard Ships

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The departure of Dutch nationals from Indonesia, underway by air for a week, speeds up today with the sailing of the first of three ships from Javanese ports.

The Waterman, a 9,000-ton vessel owned by the Netherlands government, was scheduled to leave Surabaya, East Java, with the first load of Dutch subjects.

Another Dutch liner, the Sibajak, and a British troopship chartered by the Dutch, the Captain Cook, later will depart from Jakarta and Semarang. The three ships will take an undisclosed number of passengers to Singapore, Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

In Singapore, the Dutch consulate said the Captain Cook would pick up about 800 Dutchmen.

Atlas Firing Preparations Are Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile has been postponed, possibly until Tuesday.

Scattered groups of watchers on the beach dispersed as the postponement of firing became evident.

Two of the giant missiles were visible in their stands. These may be the ones which were given static tests last week.

In addition to the firing expected today, another Atlas launching is believed likely toward the end of the week.

Two previous test launchings of the Atlas were held last summer and last fall.

In both instances the missile got into the air. Before it could get fully under way, however, it started to wobble and change course and had to be blown apart.

The Atlas is designed to deliver a hydrogen warhead over an arc reaching as high as 600 miles above the earth to a target 5,000 miles or more from its launching point. Its average speed is 10,000 miles an hour.

In a test launching, however, the main purpose is to check the functioning of the various parts. The missile may be pre-set for a lesser altitude and a shorter range for better observation of its flight.

Although construction details are secret, the Atlas is believed to be about 70 feet long and 8 1/2 feet in diameter and to weigh some 100 tons at takeoff.

It consists of three stages and is powered by three rocket engines.

The main Atlas engine is believed to have a thrust of 135,000 pounds and the two booster engines are estimated at 100,000 pounds thrust each. The fuel consists of kerosene mixed with liquid oxygen.

The Atlas uses a complex ground-based radio-inertial guidance system and has inertial gyroscope elements aboard to keep it on course during any temporary loss of ground guidance.

In the operational missile that is used in combat, the nose cone contains, among other things, an atomic warhead and provision for arming and fusing.

The Atlas, which requires electric power to operate its guidance and control systems, is launched vertically in order to reduce the time spent close to the ground during takeoff, and because it is easier to build equipment to launch heavy vehicles vertically.

Ike Asks Heroic Try At Building Strength

But She Saw Santa Claus

Sedalia Tot Succumbs As Christmas Nears

Santa Claus made his special visit to little Linda Jo Brauer just in time, because time ran out and Linda Jo won't be here for Christmas.

The five-year-old redhead with a few persistent freckles died at 12:50 a.m. Sunday at Bothwell Hospital of a brain tumor. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Brauer, 1404 South Kentucky, was taken to the hospital Thursday when her condition became extremely critical.

Linda Jo had been ill since September, 1956, and last February, at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., underwent an operation. At that time, her parents were told that her life span was limited.

Santa made his visit to Linda Jo a week ago Saturday after the Sedalia police department heard of her illness and arranged for Santa's transportation. He arrived in the company of Police Chief Edgar Neighbors, Sgt. Charles Homan and Officer Jack Couts. With him he brought a walking doll almost as big as Linda Jo, a smaller doll, a big soft tiger, a teddy bear and some Christmas fruit and candy. But, most important of all, Santa had a long, earnest talk with Linda Jo, who listened politely even though her venerable visitor sometimes had difficulty speaking. Later, more than a hundred Christmas cards were received from all over the county, and there were many telephone calls of encouragement to the parents.

But what the doctors predicted came to pass.

Linda Jo was born in Sedalia Sept. 16, 1952, and was a member of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Surviving besides her parents are two sisters and a brother, Barbara Jean, 9, Connie Sue, 7, and Jerry Bob, 10; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lena Brauer, 1314 South Kentucky; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Altis, Cabool, Mo.; and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Sigman, Elk Creek, Mo.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home to remain until noon Tuesday when it will be taken to the Evangelical and Reformed Church, where services will be at 2 p.m., the Rev. Armin F. Klemme, pastor, to officiate.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel, Miss Esther Gulick, Earl Oehrke and Kenneth Williams will sing "Sometime We'll Understand", "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Little Sunbeam." Miss Lillian Fox will be at the organ.

Pallbearers will be Shelby and Bobby Oehrke, Buck Hinkle and Robert Sigman.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Subways Get Along Better Despite Strike

Motormen Ready For Formal Action On Mayor's Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's subways stepped up operations to 80 per cent of normal during the morning rush hour today as the strike by motormen and other transit employees entered its second week.

The Transit Authority reported acceleration of service on all divisions.

The authority shifted motormen among the divisions to improve service on the lines serving Brooklyn and Queens, which have been most affected since the strike began.

The striking motormen prepared to take formal action on Mayor Robert F. Wagner's back-to-work proposal.

At a rally, the motormen cheered sharp criticisms of Wagner's proposal made Saturday night.

The mayor told the strikers on television that the city will not let itself be "blackmailed" into acceptance of their demand for separate bargaining representation.

The City Transit Authority predicted that subway operations would be 80 per cent of normal today.

Louis Waldman, attorney for the striking Motormen's Benevolent Assn., told the rally that, without clarification of the mayor's proposal, the men would be buying "a cat in a bag."

In his "peace proposal," Wagner said that if the strikers return to work the TA will join in an application to get four MBA leaders out of jail. The officials were jailed last week for violation of a no-strike injunction.

Wagner said he had agreed to set up a fund to take care of inequities for certain subway employees and named former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind to act as an impartial referee in considering cases against individual strikers.

Asks No Decision On Middle East Now

PARIS (AP)—An American spokesman said today that the United States is opposed to the NATO summit conference's taking any decisions regarding the Middle East.

Turkey earlier was reported seeking NATO support for a Middle East settlement calling for revision of Israel's frontiers to the line provided for in a U. N. resolution prior to the Palestine war.

The U. N.-proposed frontiers are opposed by Israel since they would require Israeli withdrawal at a number of points.

The American spokesman said the U. S. government is opposed to any NATO conference action on such Middle East issues because the Middle Eastern nations are not represented at the parley.

Ike Arrives in Paris

IKE ARRIVES FOR NATO SUMMIT CONFERENCE — French Premier Felix Gaillard, left, listens intently as President Eisenhower makes a formal statement at Orly Field, Paris, en route to the NATO summit conference. The President expressed belief that the Atlantic Pact nations would meet the challenge of Russia "effectively" and "in unity."

Disagreement Over Rocket Bases Grows

Other NATO Heads Seek Postponement Of Final Decision

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower called on the Atlantic Alliance today for heroic efforts to build its military strength in the missile race with Russia while the margin of power is still ours.

He immediately ran into demands from some other NATO leaders to postpone a final decision on basing nuclear rockets in Europe.

A disagreement over quick action on NATO missiles bases and atomic stockpiles appeared to be developing at the very outset of the historic summit conference to rally the resources of the Western coalition.

The conference opened with a brief public session at noon, at which Eisenhower spoke. It went into a closed working session in midafternoon, but statements of government heads were made public as discussed.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer backed the U.S. principle that—in Adenauer's words — NATO should be equipped "with advanced weapons equalling those of our potential enemy." Yet Adenauer said all military questions here need "very thorough study," with a decision put off until next spring.

Premier Einar Gerhardsen of Norway informed the conference that his country has no plans now "to let stockpiles be established on Norwegian territory or to construct launching sites" for intermediate range ballistic missiles.

Gerhardsen said that if necessary a solution to disarmament must be sought "through direct diplomatic negotiations between the two principal military powers." This was a clear suggestion for American - Russian talks—something the European Allies have always shied at heretofore.

The Norwegian Premier said the right course would be for NATO to postpone a decision on rocket bases in Europe.

But NATO's civilian chief, Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, lent powerful support to President Eisenhower. He called on all 15 members of the Alliance to arm themselves with the most modern nuclear weapons and said failure to do so would leave the Soviet Union with a nuclear monopoly in Europe.

Adenauer and Gerhardsen spoke out before Eisenhower had formally presented to the summit meeting an American offer to supply missiles and stockpile nuclear weapons in Western Europe. The proposal had already been informally circulated however, through diplomatic channels.

Janeeta Buckley, Thomas Huggins Exchange Vows

Miss Janeeta Mae Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckley of Kansas City, former Sedalia, became the bride of Airman 3-c Thomas A. Huggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Huggins of Texas City, Tex., at 2 o'clock in the afternoon Saturday, Dec. 7, with the Rev. J. R. Wallace, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performing the ceremony.

The bride chose for her wedding a dress that matched in color and material the Air Force uniform of the bridegroom, and was fashioned with a low V-neckline. Her shoes were vinyl with jeweled heels and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Lois Crainshaw of Climax Springs was the bride's only attendant. Mrs. Crainshaw wore a brown taffeta dress with small white polka dots and it, too, had the low V-neckline. Her corsage was also of pink carnations.

William Buckley, brother of the bride, served as best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gero, 405 West 20th, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The bride's table was covered with a white tablecloth edged in wedding bells and centered with a three-tier wedding cake on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom. Napkins matched the tablecloth. Cake and other refreshments were served with punch and coffee.

Attending the wedding and receptions were Mrs. Charles Buckley, mother of the bride, and children, of Kansas City; Vester Hicks, Whiteman Air Force Base; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dietzfeld, Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. George Bain and children, Mrs. Mary Lutjen, Mrs. Elmer Lutjen and son, Miss Florence Mabry, Miss Sandy Green, and Miss Linda Green all of Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Huggins, parents of the bridegroom and Charles Buckley, father of the bride, were unable to attend.

The couple are now at home at 202½ South Ohio.

Jimenez Re-elected In Venezuela Vote

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Marcos Perez Jimenez was winning re-election as expected today with 75 per cent of the first count officially reported in a yes-or-no plebiscite. He had no opponents.

Election officials reported that of 60,872 ballots counted in Caracas, 21 per cent were "no" votes and 4 per cent were invalid.

The announced count was 45,667 "yes," 12,796 "no" and 2,390 invalid. Those thrown out were of voters who had placed both a blue "yes" and a red "no" ballot in envelopes dropped in the boxes.

The counting is not expected to be completed for several days. But the Interior Ministry announced that Perez Jimenez had been overwhelmingly chosen in yesterday's balloting to serve five more years as president.

This Is How AP Handles NATO Meeting

PARIS (AP)—Twenty-five Associated Press correspondents and photographers are speeding coverage of the NATO summit conference over direct radio and Teletype lines to New York and the rest of the world.

With a pooled knowledge of 10 languages, the AP staff is providing fast coverage of the principal conference sessions, reports from NATO delegations and a variety of related stories.

The experience of the 17 veteran correspondents on the job includes coverage of the Korean War, the Geneva Big Four talks, Moscow Supreme Soviet meetings, the Suez invasion and a host of international conferences.

Eight AP photographers are providing pictures to be transmitted by radio from the regular AP bureau office and special facilities in the Palais de Chaillot.

Special facilities installed at the Palais de Chaillot also enabled the AP to flash news of the conference directly to the United States at all hours. The AP also has special telephone lines to points around Paris where delegations of the various nations will hold briefings.

State Department correspondent John Hightower and White House staffer Marvin Arrowsmith of Washington are working closely with the U.S. delegation. Other specialists and the delegations they cover are Arthur Gavshon of London, the British; Joseph E. Dynan of Paris, the French; and Brack Curry and Rudolph Panz of Bonn, the West German delegation.

Offbeat developments are being handled by Eddy Gilmore of London. He and Stanley Johnson of Paris—both former Moscow staffers—are ready to write stories re-

With no breakfast, Jose Martinez, 16, and David Vargas, 10, pooled pennies and bought three carrots. Then they started pedaling home.

Zoning Around Whiteman...

Safety is a cardinal principle in operations around the clock at an Air Force base such as Whiteman. Not only survival of human lives is involved, but also million dollar equipment. Loss of either is a great waste.

SAC command keeps an eagle eye on safety performances at its world-wide scattered bases. Manpower is too vital to be sacrificed to carelessness. Personnel cooperate.

Anomalous, however, is changed reflexes of officers and men off-base behind the wheel of an automobile. Not all, but many adopt civilian driving practices despite their safety training on base.

Since Jan. 1, 1957 there have been 17 accidents involving Whiteman drivers; seven airmen and five civilians have been killed and 16 hospitalized. These were the figures when Col. Harold E. Humfeld, wing commander, clamped down with a 50 mile speed limit order in Pettis, Johnson and Henry counties for all personnel attached to Whiteman.

Civilians continue to high-tail it in the same areas according to state limitations of 70 day, 65 night on Highway 50 and 65 and 13, faster or slower on other roads as the law requires, as they feel free of detection or as conscience dictates.

At joint meetings of officers and civic leaders of the Air Base community council, the matter of possible universal zoning of the highways around Whiteman in the tri-county area, have been earnestly discussed. The recommended figure is 50 miles. Another proposal is for dual or four-lane highways. Both will be laid before the State Highway Department. Such highway construction will take time, a long time. Zoning is something else.

At the moment zoning the tri-county area seems to suggest itself as currently obtainable. However, there are some legal points involved which may require specific legislative action, the usual red tape.

Although the tri-county area might concur in a zoning regulation in the vicinity of Whiteman there is sure to be resistance from state travelers not intimate with the situation here. Yet zoning at less than state maximums has been done elsewhere.

Awaiting accomplishment of a legal highway zoning regulation in the Whiteman Air Base vicinity, could not the area be put on a voluntary zone basis? This would require the simple expedient of placing special highway markers along area routes with an inscription such as "Safe Driving Zone. 50."

Lacking compulsion, civilians might surprise everybody by voluntarily slowing down, thus reducing deaths, accidents and property losses, particularly in our congested tri-county air base, lake traffic area.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike's Second Invasion Greatest Gamble

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today begins the greatest gamble of his life. Thirteen years ago he took another great gamble when he ordered allied forces across the channel into exactly the same area he is invading today.

That was considered one of the greatest invasions of all time. But the gamble this week is more dangerous.

When he invaded France, June 6, 1944, General Eisenhower had spent months building up a massive attack force. It had been planned by the best men in the American Army and Navy. Furthermore, it was not his decision. So if he failed, those in the high command, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, would take the blame. Furthermore, he did not sail in the vanguard of the attacking fleet. He remained in Supreme Headquarters in England until it was known that the invasion would be successful.

This time, however, Dwight D. Eisenhower must take full responsibility for failure. This time he sails in the vanguard. This time he is on hand to struggle with the initial holding forces. This time preparations have been almost nil, no great body of experts prepared the preliminary plans. Only one cabinet officer went in advance to scout hostile territory. Eisenhower himself was ill, did not prepare to head this invasion until the very end.

Nevertheless, he invades in order to hold secure that which he conquered 13 years ago. It is a heroic gamble taken with the courage of an old soldier.

Old Soldier's Fatalism

As an old soldier, Dwight D. Eisenhower has decided to die with his boots on. There is no question of his courage. Some diplomats do question his wisdom. They have learned of a remark made to his doctors and associates: "I am ready to do whatever the fellows want me to do."

However, it's the job of a President not to be ordered into battle but to order others. It's the job of a President not to do what the fellows want him to do, but to tell the fellows what they should do.

What Dwight D. Eisenhower plans to use as his chief weapon is his charm, his ability to

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

WHO IS AN AGGRESSOR?—"One World under Universal Law" is getting its bumps. What world and what law do the One Worlders have in mind? With the growing Communist power, this question requires more than a poet's dreamy answer.

Another hurdle is the word, "aggression." How can you have universal law unless you define a law-breaker, or "aggressor"? How can you have one world when it won't agree on the meaning of one word?

For seven years a committee of the dis-United Nations has tried to agree on a definition of "aggression." They can't, and the U.S.A. has now asked that they give up trying. Our delegate has concluded that it is unprofitable and even dangerous to define it.

For example, in the Suez Canal hassle about a year ago, who was the aggressor: Nasser who seized other people's property; or England, France and Israel who tried to protect their interests in what had been seized?

Beginning with World War One, the boundaries of a dozen countries have been changed, generally by force. If the Baltic States tried to regain their independence from the Soviets, would they be aggressors against Russia?

When does stolen property become legal—in the hands of the thief?

Aggression will always be defined, by each country according to its own interests. That being so, "universal law" is a pipe dream.

Neighbor, what good does it do to keep everybody stirred up by shouting "aggressor"?

Smallest of the rodents is the mouse; largest is the capybara of South America, which grows to be four feet long.

Stalin Would Have Reason to Grin Now

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — If Stalin could grin in his tomb, he'd be grinning now. He was one of the greatest gamblers in history and he won. Look at NATO, the atomic bomb, Sputniks, missiles.

His tactics forced the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into existence. But it was his determination which laid the foundations for NATO's present confusion and uncertainty.

At this moment he has been downgraded, a form of disgrace, because he typified the ruthlessness of the Communist state and his heirs would like to obscure that part of his history.

But when Stalin became boss after Lenin's death in the mid-1920s, he inherited an impoverished, almost medieval country of about 125 million people. Today 300 million live under communism in Russia and other countries.

He forced his people for two generations into a meager existence so the resources of Russia could be concentrated on bringing her abreast of the United States.

It was under Stalin that Russia laid the basis for its amazing military, technical, scientific, engineering and educational progress.

After the war when this country had the atomic bomb—and the capability of smashing the Soviets—Stalin spurned all talk of disarmament and its possibility of safety, and pushed the creation of Russia's own atomic weapons. He was taking a gamble—a terrible one—for if war did start, Russia and Stalin and communism could have been destroyed together. By 1949 Russia had its own atomic bomb, by 1953 the hydrogen bomb.

That put Russia close to military equality with the United States which in quantity of bombs was still ahead.

The startling progress which Russia this year revealed with its satellites, missiles and jet planes had its origin under Stalin and, in some ways, put Russia ahead of the United States. Those things are not the product of the four years since his death.

By blockading Berlin and grabbing off Czechoslovakia, Stalin forced the Western nations into the NATO alliance in 1949. And when he let the Korean War start in 1950, NATO really began its military buildup.

NATO was the biggest menace Russia had to worry about since World War II.

But now the military might of Russia—with its beginnings under Stalin—has the NATO partners floundering, as shown by their preparations for the Paris meeting which opened today.

It's been customary, since Russia's new boss Nikita Khrushchev downgraded him two years ago, to push Stalin into the background. He won't stay pushed. He's like a bloody ghost haunting mankind.

Dr. Jordan Says

Extract Tablets Aid Victim Of Faulty Thyroid Gland

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

"Will you please write an article on myxedema, or inactive thyroid gland?" writes Mrs. O.

Myxedema is the name applied to a relatively rare condition in which the thyroid gland fails entirely to manufacture and release its normal hormonal secretion. It is far less common than another disease of the thyroid known as toxic goiter, but it must be admitted that in neither case is it known what causes the thyroid to go haywire in its normal function.

The symptoms of myxedema are interesting. They come on gradually, and may escape identification for a long time unless a basal metabolism is taken or the physician becomes suspicious of the true difficulty.

In typical cases the hair becomes thin, coarse, and loses its sheen. The skin gets thick and dry. The pulse slows and there is a characteristic accumulation of fluids underneath the skin.

The basal metabolism of a person with myxedema is generally around minus 40. Anemia is almost always present and frequently joint pains are present. There may be slowing of the mental processes.

Every physician likes to make a diagnosis of myxedema because its symptoms can be so successfully treated. Treatment merely consists in giving the right number of thyroid tablets by mouth.

The only drawback is that the thyroid treatments have to be kept up indefinitely, since they do not stimulate the thyroid to resume its normal secretions. Nevertheless, the results are remarkable, the treatment is painless and not unduly expensive.

A similar condition in children is known as cretinism. Unless this is identified early and proper steps are taken to treat it, a child with cretinism does not grow normally but remains seriously underdeveloped. Even the brain of an untreated cretinous child fails to develop normally.

However, if the diagnosis can be made early enough thyroid extract can be given as a substitute for the normal hormone secretion of the thyroid.

Myxedema and cretinism are the two most important varieties of failure of the thyroid gland to secrete its hormone normally. But if this gland merely secretes an insufficient amount the problem is difficult.

Under such circumstances the symptoms are likely to be even more vague, and the level of the basal metabolic test of uncertain diagnostic value. The physician frequently finds it difficult to be sure whether any symptoms present are truly the result of lessened thyroid secretion.

Occasionally when the thyroid comes under suspicion in this way patients are sometimes benefited by taking thyroid tablets, though not always. In myxedema, on the other hand, there is no doubt whatever of the value of administering thyroid.

LA. Gov. Long Expects Four Month Session

—LA. Gov. Edward V. Long expects the coming special legislative session to last four months or maybe longer.

The Lieutenant governor said he believes the state has too many problems to solve in a two month session. Under the constitution, special legislative sessions are limited to 60 days. If the work is not completed at that time, another 60 day session could be called.

The coming session is necessary to appropriate funds for the state government for another year. However, Gov. James T. Blair has received numerous requests for legislative action and has several ideas himself. The requests include a stricter drivers license law, changes in the new speed limit, revision of the new juvenile code, plus emergency requests of St. Louis and Kansas City.

Gov. Blair has also indicated a four month session might be necessary. But the governor has clearly indicated he doesn't favor holding the session any longer than necessary and will not commit himself as to any length of the session.

State Senator Has Answer For Juvenile Law Critics

Although many judges, magistrates and prosecuting attorneys, have been taking vigorous cuts at the new juvenile code, authors of the law have an adequate answer to the criticism.

The probate judges and magistrates have asked the governor to revise the juvenile law charging that it is unworkable in third and fourth class counties. Other officials have also taken cracks at the law.

Sen. Robert Linneman, (R-St. Charles), one of the authors of the code, said the critics have little reason to complain. "The juvenile delinquency committee had dozens of hearings on the proposed law," Linneman said, "But very few persons appeared to oppose the bill."

Some of the criticism has been against provisions which require secrecy in handling the cases of persons under 17 who are charged understanding of science and of human beings.

It seems so odd that we show so little progress spiritually in the same period of time. We still have the light of God to illuminate our way toward the Kingdom of God. Yet we turn from the light to ways of darkness.

Could it be that we do not want to be wise in the spirit? Do we merely give lip service to God? As we are filled with the Christmas spirit of love this year, let us apply our advanced wisdom to keep us on the way toward growing spiritually.

Wind Damage Caused By Open Doors

Some farmers in Missouri can remember only too well the stiff winds that caused damage throughout the state this year. Ted Hodges, associate professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Missouri, says the majority of wind damage to farm buildings can be averted.

It may be argued that major damage such as complete destruction of buildings can't be prevented. Yet, on closer look says Hodges, there are some facts that may discredit that popular belief. For every house demolished by wind storms, more than 100 barns and sheds are destroyed. It's pretty evident, then, that if barns and sheds were built and maintained with as much care as the farm home, wind damage could be greatly reduced.

Carelessness is one preventable cause of wind storm damage, notes Hodges. Failure to close doors and windows and to remove dead or dying trees too weak to resist strong winds pose a threat to farm buildings.

Lack of proper maintenance probably accounts for most of the medium-sized wind losses on Missouri farms, says Hodges. Even structures originally well built will deteriorate and become hazardous unless kept in repair. A little preventive maintenance will go a long way in reducing wind damage to farm buildings.

Poor construction accounts for most of the large farm buildings lost to wind damage. Failure to include the elements that make for strength in the original construction is inviting later wind losses.

NEW SILO—This is Olen Monsees and his new 30 by 80 foot horizontal concrete silo. The County Dairy meeting will be held at Olen's this Friday, Dec. 20. The silo, when filled level with the 6-foot-high walls, will hold 250 to 300 tons of silage. The materials for its construction including ready mixed concrete and reinforcing iron was under $1,200.

The silo was designed to be used as a self-feeding operation if and when Monsees desires. So far, he is hauling the silage to the cows. The silos is covered with the new vinyl plastic which gives it the wavy appearance in the picture.

This silo is just one of the things on the program for the county dairy meeting this Friday, Dec. 20. Besides a tour of the modern dairy set-up, bull pens and dairy rationals will be discussed as well as dairy production records.

The meeting is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. and will wind up with a lunch of doughnuts and hot chocolate. The Monsees farm is located two miles south of Smithton on the west road.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County

Lime Plan Set

We have just received word that the ASC lime program will definitely go on a "pounds of calcium" basis on Jan. 1. This means that we will recommend so many pounds of calcium and magnesium per acre for each field.

In some ways that will not mean much change in Pettis County. Most of our lime was already meeting the new requirements of 50 per cent through a 40-mesh screen. Also we had been recommending either calcium or magnesium lime for the field on the basis of test.

Why Make a Change

Until two or three years ago the difference between calcium and magnesium lime was scarcely recognized as far as field needs were concerned. However, most fields need about ten times as much calcium as magnesium. An optimum mixture then would be a limestone that contained 90 per cent calcium limestone and 10 per cent magnesium limestone.

One quarry in the county had a mixture of 50 per cent calcium lime and 40 per cent magnesium lime. With that material a field that needed three tons of 90 per cent calcium material would need nearly six tons of the 50 per cent material. On the other hand that material might be just right for another field.

Actually since all lime has been the same price, farmers might just as well get the kind that fits their field. Frequently it will mean more lime applied per acre. The major quarries in the county vary from 70 to 95 per cent calcium and recommendations will be on the basis of 100 per cent calcium.

How to Figure Needs

The recommendation sheet will be similar on the front to the one used in 1957. One exception is at the bottom where the lime recommendation will include pounds of calcium and magnesium needed per acre and amount of calcium carbonate equivalent needed to lower the acidity to a pH of 6.5.

The back of the sheet will be devoted entirely to figuring the amount of lime needed. One table will read down the side on the basis of calcium in the limestone and across the top on the basis of fineness of grind. The magnesium table works similarly on the basis of per cent of magnesium and fineness of grind. Finally comes the acidity which is indicated by the pH. Either or both the calcium and magnesium will satisfy that.

Who Will Figure Needs?

We hope that land owners and operators will figure their own lime needs. Actually they can do it very easily from the sheet mentioned above. Some folks know that we figure rock phosphate needs at the office and they may wonder why we can't figure the lime.

The answer is that most rock phosphate has a guaranteed analysis of 30 per cent. On that basis we can readily figure needs. However, with lime the quarries in the county all have different analyses and considerable lime is also brought in from outside the county. Folks could tell us when the samples are brought in which quarry they intend to patronize. However, when the test is run it might develop that the product from another quarry would come nearer to satisfying the needs of that particular field.

Of course, we will help everyone who comes in while we are in the office, to figure their needs. Some help can probably be given at the ASC office and agents of the lime companies will be glad to be of service.

Will Hold Meetings

I have talked with Earl Thomas, local lime supplier, and we are going to work out a series of meetings on this new method of figuring lime needs. At these meetings we hope to use a motion picture emphasizing the importance of lime and we will go into detail showing how to fill out the back side of the recommendation sheet. Refreshments will probably also be served.

Make Agreements Clear Between Father and Son

By C. R. MEEKER
MU Farm Management Specialist

Let's talk briefly about business agreements fathers and sons use in farming together.

The simplest way for the son to work on the home farm is for wages. To this, in some cases, may be added a bonus or an agreed upon per cent of the net income.

The wage agreement has certain problems. It is difficult to keep the son interested in the total farm business. Another problem is that it is harder for the son to save money and get ahead with only cash income than with increases in livestock and machinery.

The wage agreement should be used only until the son is sure he wants to farm and the situation seems favorable to a more permanent type of arrangement.

A second non-partnership agreement is a guaranteed wage and a share of the net farm income.

The son may start by furnishing only his own labor and cooperating in management, or he may own some livestock. The general principle here is that each party shares in relationship to his contributions of labor, capital and management. A value is put on all contributions of each party. An interest rate is applied to capital and a wage rate to labor. The per cent contributed by each party may easily be determined.

The annual settlement then might look like this, an actual example:

Farm cash receipts	.....	$14,901
Farm cash expenses	.....	10,486
Net cash income	.....	4,415
Net Inv. increase	.....	2,308
Net farm returns	.....	$ 6,453

In this case father's contributions were 70 per cent of the total or $4,517 and the son's share was 30 per cent or $1,936. His guaranteed wage was $1,320 a year so he either had $616 more cash coming to him or he had a $616 share in the increase in inventory of livestock and machinery and feed. This could be left in the business and a new agreement drawn up for the next year, giving him credit for his increase in ownership. This would possibly increase his contribution a little.

When the son has accumulated some capital and is of an age of maturity then another plan might be adopted.

This is a partnership or profit-sharing type of agreement. In this agreement, the father and son become full partners. Usually a partnership name is used. The contributions of each party are allowed a return. Then all above that is divided equally in most cases.

Bulletins giving suggestions and experiences on father and son agreements may be obtained at your county agent's office. Lease forms are also available.

Check Hearing Range Before Hi-Fi Buy

LOS ANGELES — An ear specialist says a lot of people who buy expensive hi-fi sets can't hear what they're paying for.

Most sets produce sounds well beyond the hearing limit of all but the sharpest human ear, says Dr. Aram Glorig, a professor at the University of Southern California's School of Medicine.

The professor advises prospective purchasers of high fidelity sets to have their hearing tested before they buy. Otherwise, he says, hi-fi for them may just mean hi-fi-nance.

Eldon Mustangs Beat Pintos 51-44 To Win Tipton Tournament Crown

Versailles Team Takes Third Place

Hubbard Tigers Get Consolation Crown, Topping Jamestown

The California Pintos suffered their first loss in eight games in the finals of the Tipton Invitational Tournament Saturday night as the Eldon Mustangs manufactured a sobering 51-44 upset. Another Tri-County Conference school, Versailles, kept the most a conference affair by knocking off an outsider, Lincoln University High of Jefferson City, 59-54, in the scrap for third place. Hubbard's Tigers of Sedalia won the consolation crown with a 70-64 win over Jamestown.

This week, Tri-County conference teams face a lighter schedule with Stover's Bulldogs getting the sternest test tonight when they host the undefeated Cole Camp crew of the PBCAA conference. Cole Camp has recorded 11 consecutive wins and boasts the hottest one-two scoring punch in the area with Jerry Ragland and Leon Stelling keeping the nets loose. A third man in the Cole Camp attack, Dave Schnackenberg, is the big man. The 6-foot-5 center, a junior, has supported Ragland and Sterling with a 14 point average.

Tuesday night California will attempt to regain its winning habit against the flashy Ashland Eagles at California. Ashland recently won the Little Dixie Conference tournament.

The Stover Invitational Tourney opens Wednesday night with Ottumville and Hubbard meeting in the lid lifter and LaMonte's improving Vikings taking on Stover in the evenings feature. Climax Springs and Windsor clash in the nightcap.

Friday night, Tri-County Conference teams will be watching the California-Versailles contest on the new Versailles court. California is favored to win the title, despite its loss to Eldon, and Versailles rates the runner up spot.

Auburn Eleven Swept to Fame On Rock Defense

NEW YORK — Auburn, the national collegiate football champion, swept to its lofty position on the strength of a rock-like defense that put together the best defensive mark in 10 seasons.

This was disclosed today with the release by the NCAA Service Bureau of its final major college statistics. Unbeaten, Auburn permitted its opponents an average of only 2.8 points a game, the lowest mark since 1947. The Plainsmen also led in total defense with a yield of only 133 yards a game and in rushing defense with 67.4 yards a game.

The top-ranked team in the final Associated Press poll was nowhere among the pace setters in the offensive rankings, however.

Conference Race Starts

Hornets Whip Tigers In Richmond Tourney

Coach Howard Glavin's Smith-Cotton Tigers will attempt to get back on the victory trail tomorrow night when they encounter the towering Mexico Bulldogs in the lid lifter of the Central Missouri Conference title race on the S-C hardwoods.

Saturday night, the Bengals dropped the championship game in the Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament to the Chillicothe Hornets, 64-55. The Hornets used a height advantage to full extent in wrapping up the crown, but the locals stayed in contention until the final quarter.

In the first period the Tigers commanded a 19-15 advantage, but by intermission Chillicothe's favored five bounced back and held a 33-30 margin. S-C cut the deficit to two in the third period, 49-47, but the Tigers couldn't find the range in the pay off stanza and lost their chance for the crown. John Middleton pitched in 17 court points to lead the S-C effort and teammates Marshall Bryan and Jim Mateja contributed 12 apiece. Lemon tanked 20 for Chillicothe and Conrad and Wood added 19 and 16, respectively.

Smith-Cotton faces a rugged test in an exceptionally strong CMO circuit this season with Columbia, Jefferson City, Hannibal and Kemper all boasting fine quintets—with Columbia's Kewpies rating the favorites' role. Mexico easily could be the loop's sleeper. Last season the Bulldogs participated in the state class L tourney, but lost

Two Big Ones Scheduled

Tempo of Christmas Tourney Season Increases This Week

By ED CORRIGAN
 The Associated Press

The tempo of the Christmas tournament hoopla increases this week with two big ones scheduled. In one of them, North Carolina puts its 36-game winning streak on the line.

The Kentucky Invitational at Lexington sends North Carolina into action along with Minnesota, West Virginia (both unbeaten) and host Kentucky.

At Louisville, the Blue Grass Festival will show San Francisco, Seattle, Army and Louisville. Both start Friday. The Quantico Tournament gets under way tomorrow while the Carrousel Tournament begins Thursday at Charlotte.

Next week, of course, comes the deluge of Christmas tournaments. But none probably will offer the intriguing possibilities of the Kentucky Invitational.

North Carolina takes on Minnesota in the first round, while West Virginia, which has whipped 25 straight Southern Conference foes, plays Kentucky, which has been beaten only by Maryland.

Minnesota will be no cinch for North Carolina. Assuming the Tar Heels get past the Gophers, they'll have to play the winner of the West Virginia-Kentucky game. Who'll win that one? Strictly a tossup.

At this early stage of the season, it is beginning to appear as though some reassessment of forecasts is in order—at least in several districts.

For example: 1. Bradley, the favorite for the Missouri Valley championship,

Welterweights Meet Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Danny Russo and Tony DeCola, two promising welterweights from Brooklyn, meet tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York in an interesting match.

Russo, 19, has a fine 12-3 record. He moved out of the preliminary ranks in the last five months, beating Eddie Lynch and Peter Schmidt.

DeCola, 21, has a 25-9-1 record. His fine performance in two losing bouts with Jimmy Archer won him another call from Matchmaker Teddy Brenner.

Du Mont will telecast in some sections.

Willie Pep, former featherweight champion, comes back to Boston for a match with Jimmy Connors of New Bedford, Mass., Tuesday.

Yolande Pompey of Trinidad hopes for better luck on his second invasion of America than he had in 1954 when he was beaten by Moses Ward in Chicago and injured both hands.

Pompey draws Clarence Hinnant of Washington as an opponent Wednesday at Chicago Stadium. Ring magazine puts Pompey No. 2 among light heavy contenders and the National Boxing Assn. ranks him No. 6.

Hinnant is a heavy puncher who is ranked among the top 10 in both rankings.

ABC will telecast.

Three tournaments were decided over the weekend. Cincinnati, which might wind up giving Bradley a fight for the Missouri Valley title, won its own invitation by trimming Xavier of Ohio 79-68.

Duquesne captured the Steel Bowl with an 81-64 triumph over Pitt (the Panthers' first loss), and Mississippi State, now 6-0, turned back Auburn 52-37 in the final of the Birmingham Classic.

"COACH OF THE YEAR" — Woody Hayes, coach of Ohio State's Big Ten Champs, holds a trophy symbolic of their selection as the nation's Number One collegiate football team, as selected by the United Press Board of Coaches. It's double honors for Hayes, who received the Coach of the Year plaque, an award determined by the ballots of members of the American Football Coaches Association. Hayes, shown in Columbus, Ohio, journeyed to New York for the formal, double presentation, where he appeared on a nationwide telecast.

Sanders Will Talk About New Coach Job

LOS ANGELES — UCLA football coach Red Sanders, whose contract has six years to run, is going to talk about the Texas A. & M. coaching job Wednesday in College Station, Tex.

Sanders and his wife will fly there to consider an offer which the Los Angeles Times says consists of $15,000 a year plus $5,000 a year expenses; producing a TV show that would net Sanders another $10,000; a substantial amount of stock in a triple A classification oil corporation; a new station wagon every year, and an air conditioned rent-free home with all food supplied free.

Sanders admitted he is interested in the offer but said he has discussed the matter so far only on the telephone "and no one, naturally, discusses price over the telephone, although I gathered that the money situation down there is pretty good."

Sanders' UCLA salary is rumored to be about $18,000.

After starting the season in fairly strong fashion, the locals have bogged down in recent play and the new low came Friday night as Lincoln's quintet ran up a decisive 67-31 victory on the Sacred-Heart court. An indicator of Sacred-Heart's play is Don Ressel's point production. In Tuesday's loss to LaMonte the jump shot artist managed only 15 points and Friday night he was held to 11 — his low for the season. The Gremlins have dropped eight of 14 decisions.

Pilot Grove was eliminated on successive nights in the Tipton Invitational tourney, losing to California, 66-43, and to Bunceton, 76-41.

Starting for Sacred Heart will be Tom Moser and Don Rouchka at forwards, Terry Menefee and Don Ressel at guards and John Martin at center. Reserve guard Adam Fisher is back in action

MSC-Ottawa Tilt Set for Tuesday

The Central Missouri State College Mule game with Ottawa which was scheduled for Monday night has been changed to Tuesday night. The switch in date was made through a mutual agreement. Coach Earl Keth of the Mules said. The game will be played at Ottawa.

The "B" game gets underway at 6:30 o'clock, followed by the varsity tilt at 8 o'clock.

Lions, 49ers Will Collide On Sunday

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
 The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions and the San Francisco 49ers, each with quarterback troubles and a surplus of second-half bounce, will collide Sunday in San Francisco to determine the champion of the National Football League's Western Division.

The teams ended their regular schedules yesterday on three-game winning streaks, tied for the lead with 8-4 records.

The Lions beat the Chicago Bears 21-13. Y. A. Tittle directed a 17-point second half for the 49ers to smother the last-place Green Bay Packers 27-20.

In the meantime, the upstart Colts ran into a redhot Norm Van Brocklin. The Dutchman threw four touchdown passes and the Los Angeles Rams scored 17 points in the final period to whip Baltimore 37-21. The loss left the Colts with a 7-5 record and its best NFL finish in history. But it was hardly consolation after hopes had been raised for the title.

The Cleveland Browns, Eastern champions, warmed up for their championship match, rallying to whip the New York Giants 34-28. Washington outfaked Pittsburgh 10-3.

The Lions-49ers winner plays Cleveland Dec. 29 for the NFL title.

Detroit defeated Los Angeles 31-21 in a 1952 playoff and went on to outplay Cleveland 17-7 in the league championship game. It was the Lions' lone playoff appearance. The 49ers have never been in a playoff.

The teams split two regular season games.

The Lions played their first game without Bobby Layne, who fractured an ankle last week. Tobin Rote assumed the quarterback burden and threw one touchdown pass.

Rote had help from rookie Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, who scored the first touchdown in a second-half push that overcame the Bears' 10-0 halftime lead. The Lions were held to 13 yards rushing in a feeble first half.

Green Bay led 20-10 at the half, which Tittle sat out, resting pulled muscles in both legs. Coach Frank Albert started him in the second half. In a cold rain, he sparked the 49ers to a field goal by Gordy Soltau and two touchdown smashes by veteran Joe Perry.

After the game, Tittle said his sore legs felt "pretty good." But he was limping. Albert had started rookie John Brodie, but later said, "There's just no substitute for experience."

When Van Brocklin, a 10-year-man like Tittle, wasn't throwing TDs, Paige Cothren was kicking three field goals for the Rams. The Colts were down 20-7 at the half.

after suffering a sprained ankle in practice last Wednesday.

Expert Blames Stars for Any Career Flops

By DOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Much blame has been heaped on the studios for failing to develop new stars and on theater men for not helping the cause.
Now here's an expert who blames the actors themselves. What's more, he names names.
He is Jack Kosslyn, veteran dramatic coach on both coasts and sometime actor himself. He has a part in the current "Mars Attacks," but devotes most of his time to developing young talent at his school in Hollywood.

"Part of the failure to develop new stars is poor selection by the studios," he remarked. "When I was in the talent program at U-I, most of the young people I had to work with were what I call "marshmallow faces"—pretty boys and girls with no individuality. Yet what makes stars is a differentness, a rare kind of vitality.

"That is real talent, and it is a hard thing to find. But even those who do not have native talent can still study and learn their craft. Then they will at least be interesting."
"But they won't do it. Either they're too lazy or they think they're good enough as they are. They aren't good enough."

"Take a fellow like Jeff Chandler. There is a sameness in every performance he gives. Rory Calhoun, too. You know exactly what he is going to do in every picture. That would be all right if they were fascinating personalities. But they aren't."
"Debra Paget is a pretty face with nothing behind it. Robert Wagner has had plenty of chance to grow as a performer, but he has failed to mature. A fellow like Tab Hunter has the physical attributes to attract a young following, but he hasn't developed himself in other ways."

"You'd think if Esther Williams wanted to get out of the tank, she would study acting seriously. She shows no signs of doing so."
"You must admire Jayne Mansfield for taking a not-too-pretty face and a large bust and creating a sensation as an imitation Marilyn Monroe. But she seems more interested in sensations than an acting career. Now that she has done the one role she knows how, what is left for her?"

NEW POSITION — Clint W. Bohon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bohon, 1211 South Carr, was recently promoted from retail sales manager at Chattanooga, Tenn., to production sales manager of Corn Goods at Chicago, of the Quaker Oats Co. Bohon, a native of Sedalia, joined the Quaker Oats Co. on Aug. 28, 1945. He is married to the former Marjorie Schupp of Sedalia and they have a child, Wanda Sue, who is a senior in high school. They will move to Chicago after the first of the year.

Big Ship Is Delayed By Wind, Heavy Seas

NEW YORK (AP)—The liner Queen Mary, delayed by high winds and heavy seas, docked here today 2 1/2 days behind schedule.
The Cunard vessel, originally due here Friday morning, left Southampton 24 hours late because of high winds. Once at sea, gales and rough going accounted for another 36-hour delay.
The ship carried 1,274 passengers.

Is Opposed To Burying 'Lively Arts'

By CHARLES MENCHER

NEW YORK (AP)—Now the word is out that "The Seven Lively Arts" is dying and will be officially interred by CBS-TV in February.

It's a topic of some discussion among television programmers — busy gentlemen who are forever officiating at funerals, dabbling in mid-wifery, feeding the young, fanning the old. One sentiment expressed about the commercially unsponsored Sunday afternoon show is substantially this:

"It's almost impossible to make a go of an intellectually potent TV program. Sponsors are shy of them. Better to play safe with the established entertainment formulas — westerns and variety shows. It's too bad, but that's the way it is."

Let's raise a dissenting voice. First of all, before writing the obituary of "The Seven Lively Arts," let's report that some of its works probably will return next year—though probably not under the title of "Arts." It's a sad commentary on the minds of some citizens that the very word "arts" or "art" repels them.

CBS has put about 1 million dollars in the program, which has been unable to attract a sponsor. Time and money have been invested in several shows which will not be seen before "The Seven Lively Arts" bows out on Feb. 16. Almost certainly they'll be seen later.

Unfortunately, the program as now constituted never did recover from the numerous negative reviews its first show received.

The majority of negative reviews of that first show on "The Changing Ways of Love" were based on the performances of two excellent professional writers, John Crosby and S. J. Perelman, who were rank amateurs as public performers.

Besides its first fumbling step, the chief fault of "The Seven Lively Arts" is that it often seems to copy too assiduously the format of "Omnibus" on NBC-TV.

"Omnibus," enjoying its sixth year on television, has healthy Nielsen audience ratings to prove that a large home audience does watch intellectually potent television. "Omnibus" has learned how to make ideas interesting.

So, too, have "See It Now" and "20th Century," both on CBS-TV.

in the field of contemporary history. They succeed, basically, in the very difficult feat of making a viewer feel that "It's fun to think about this."

Search for Plane Missing Last Night

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An air-ground search was planned today for a twin-engine plane believed to have crashed last night with seven persons aboard on a stormy flight from Reno, Nev.

The plane was en route to San Francisco over the storm-swept Sierra.

Its last radio report indicated no trouble.

Moses Story Outlined By Luminous Hands

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—The luminous hands of a pastor enabled more than 100 persons to "hear" as well as see the story of Moses last night.

The Rev. C. Roland Gerhold accompanied members of his congregation, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church for the Deaf, to a showing of "The Ten Commandments" and relayed the film's speaking parts by means of sign language.

Wearing luminous paint on his face, hands and arms, the 39-year-old pastor translated the film's message from a dais to the side of the Adams Theater here. An ultraviolet light trained on his hands illuminated the special paint without disturbing the rest of the audience.

Free Polio Shots Are Given In Gym Monday and Tuesday

By Bill Heiss

All students who have not yet had their polio shots are now given the opportunity to receive them free of charge on Dec. 16 and 17. The shots will be given in the Smith-Cotton gymnasium. Every student wanting to receive these shots is to bring a request slip signed by his or her parents or guardian. As far as is now known this is the only time the vaccine will be offered free of charge.

On Tuesday, Dec. 9, the sale of individual student pictures for the 1957 Smith-Cotton year book, the Archives, began. The students are being given the opportunity to purchase these pictures, which will serve as mementos of their high school days.

A group of Senior boys went to Columbia, recently to take the mental examination for the Naval Officers Reserve Training program. To enter they must first pass a mental examination, followed by a physical in January, and then go before a reviewing board of Navy officers. If the results on all the examinations are satisfactory, the student will become a part of the NROTC program. Those chosen will receive their books and tuition, plus $600 a year for room and board. Beginning with their sophomore year in college, and every summer thereafter, they take a summer cruise on navy ships. Upon graduation they receive a commission and must serve on active duty for two years. The boys taking the examination on Saturday are Marshall Bryan, Art Bethke, Gordon Corson, Ronnie Dirck, Harold Lewis, John Middleton, Tom Herrick and Wayne Richardson.

Bill Morgan was chairman of the annual PTA Dads night at Smith-Cotton, which was held in the Little Theater on Dec. 12. The program for the night included several numbers sung by the Missouri Pacific Boosters. The principal speech by Perry Edde was well received. After the meeting, refreshments were served by the Smith-Cotton PTA in the cafeteria. As a project for this Christmas, the Student Council of Smith-Cotton took up a project supporting CARE, an organization which sends food to the needy peoples of the world. Twenty-two pounds of surplus American food may be sent through this organization for only $1.00. The council recommended that each student give 50 cents and most of the students went even farther by giving up refreshments for their annual Christmas parties and giving this money to CARE.

The regular meeting of the Smith-Cotton chapter of the Future Teachers of America was held last Thursday, at which time the foreign exchange student, Esko Ollila was the speaker. Esko told of the nature of student life in his home country, Finland. Miss Sue Hyatt, president of the Missouri College, Future Teachers of America, attended the annual Christmas party which was held immediately following the business part of the meeting. The organization meets in the school library, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Polly Sillers.

The Future Homemakers of America had their regular Christmas meeting on Dec. 12 with Linda Dickerson as the program chairman. The program included a Christmas reading from the Bible, by Sandra Wimbrenner, along with a group singing Christmas carols led by Carolle Shirlee. Immediately following the carols, the members played a game called Rhythm, with the leader being Katherine Stohr. They then had a gift exchange which was led by Nona Payne. The refreshment table was set with candle reindeer decorations. Mrs. Maddox is sponsor of this organization.

Mr. Blair's speech and dramatic department presented an assembly for the Junior High students last Wednesday. The program was begun by Judy Jiedel giving a dramatic reading, "Danny Boy." Following this was a humorous reading given by Bill Heiss, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," which set a different mood. A play, "Six Ladies in Waiting," was next presented, which contained a good bit of humor. Starring in the play were Betty Phillips as Minnie, Beverly Long as Jane, Iva Shoemaker as Dora, Donna Briggs as Helen, Carolyn Thomas as Unis and Peggy Welch as Pam. The mistress of ceremonies was Carolyn Nave.

Will Inquire Into Science Training Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Preparedness subcommittee will take up the question of federal subsidies for scientific education before it ends its inquiry into the missiles program.

This was disclosed today by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the subcommittee chairman.

Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, already has said publicly he believes some form of federal aid should be made available for training scientists needed in the defense program.

He told reporters that when the subcommittee sits down to write a report on its investigation of the missile and satellite programs he will ask Chairman Hill (D-Ala.) of the Senate Labor and Welfare

Committee to sit in on discussions of educational problems.

"We expect to turn over to the Labor Committee the job of acting as it sees fit on a scientific educational program after it has had the benefit of our inquiries into this matter," Johnson said. Johnson is understood to be thinking in terms of legislation which would parallel that under which agricultural vocational teachers have been trained.

The Preparedness subcommittee has received testimony that the United States is lagging behind Russia in production of trained engineers and scientists. Russian high school training in mathematics and sciences was pictured as far superior to that in the United States.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), a strong Eisenhower supporter, called in a statement for action to put more emphasis on science teaching in the schools.

"For a long time," he said,

"our school system has failed to give adequate emphasis to scientific education." He added that schools are "hard put to get and keep science teachers."
